This experiential session gives supervisors and managers the skills to manage employee performance as an ongoing process. Participants learn the essential skills needed to set clear expectations, document key performance behaviors and results, as well as provide ongoing coaching and feedback to employees.

Participants in this workshop will achieve these outcomes:

- Connecting the supervisor role to employee retention and engagement
- Setting and communicating expectations from day one
- Developing documentation based on facts and observable behaviors
- Planning and delivering feedback and coaching employees toward success
