

Communication and Employee Engagement

Business Crisis Communication: How to Be Prepared for Anything

(For leaders who must respond with urgency to the unexpected)

When: July 14, 2017; 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

Where: 418 East Fourth Street, Loveland

Cost: $25 Register: Crisis Communication

Instructor: Mike Kohler, Elevate Training Coordinator

When do many organizations think about developing a crisis communication plan? Immediately after they've had a crisis. The best time to prepare for worst-case scenarios is right now.

Participants in this workshop will learn:

- The fundamental policies and procedures to have in place for any kind of disaster situation.
- How to address loss of business ... and even loss of life.
- What your entire workforce expects from leadership in a crisis and what it takes to meet those expectations.

For more information about this and other workshops, please call (970) 498-6665 or email business@larimer.org.

elevate

Leadership and Workforce Development Training